We are Forever 15!

SPEAKER & COACH

The Forever 15 presentation was created in loving memory of Noah, a bright, easy-going 15-year-old from Buda, Texas. An honor roll student, football player since the age of four, and devoted big brother to three younger siblings, Noah had just begun his sophomore year of high school. After attending only two days of class, he headed into the weekend like any other teenager, telling his friends, "See you Monday." That Monday never came.

On August 21, 2022, Noah tragically died after taking a single counterfeit pill containing fentanyl. His loss was sudden, devastating, and entirely preventable. In response, his family launched the Forever 15 Project to turn unimaginable grief into action, education, and prevention working to save other families from experiencing the same tragedy.

Through this presentation, the Forever 15 team is committed to saving lives by raising awareness about fentanyl poisoning and today's rapidly evolving drug landscape.

Audiences learn about current substance trends including fentanyl, counterfeit pills, vaping products, xylazine, and carfentanil, along with the warning signs of use and overdose. The training also provides practical tools, resources, and guidance for students, parents, educators, and community members.

Each presentation is delivered by Janel Rodriguez and Deputy Mark Andrews, with Brandon Dunn joining select events. Together, they combine personal tragedy, real-world law enforcement experience, and prevention expertise to deliver a powerful, honest message focused on one goal: preventing another family from losing a child to a single pill.

Client Testimonial

The Forever 15 Project really connected with our students and staff in a way that few presentations do. It was real, honest, and deeply impactful. Noah's story helped bring the message to life, and the information on today's drug trends was eye-opening for everyone in the room. You could tell it wasn't just another lecture, it sparked real conversations and awareness that continued long after the presentation ended. Our community walked away more informed and better prepared to recognize the dangers our youth are facing today.

WHO WE WORK WITH

We work with all age student audiences, community groups, educators, law enforcement, and a wide range of professionals. Our presentations are designed to meet each audience where they are, providing relevant, real-world information on today's drug trends and prevention strategies. Whether in schools, community settings, or professional environments, our focus is on increasing awareness and saving lives.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

Each presentation is engaging, real, and rooted in lived experience and current drug trend data. Audiences receive clear, up-to-date information on today's drug threats along with practical strategies for prevention, recognition, and response. The goal is for every participant to leave more aware, better prepared, and equipped with tools that can help save lives.
