SPEAKER & COACH

MEDIA KIT

Hi, I'm Richard!

SPEAKER & COACH

For more than 35 years, I served with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), including 28 years as a Special Agent and an additional seven years as the Outreach Coordinator for the DEA's Pharmaceutical Diversion Control Unit.

My career provided me with specialized expertise in current drug trends, narcotics investigations, tactical awareness, and conducting presentations. I conducted numerous narcotics investigations and earned certifications as a DEA firearms, tactical, and defensive tactics instructor. Throughout my career, I developed and delivered training programs for law enforcement professionals as well as presentations for a wide range of audiences.

In my outreach role, I led educational programs designed to increase awareness of emerging drug threats and their impact on communities. I have presented to students, parents, educators, coaches, healthcare professionals, businesses, community organizations and prevention coalitions, helping them recognize current drug trends and make informed decisions.

Drawing on my extensive tactical background, I also provide situational awareness and personal safety training for non-law enforcement audiences. These programs equip individuals with practical strategies to enhance their personal security, improve their awareness of potential threats, and increase their confidence in everyday situations.

Client Testimonial

“Richard's presentation was one of the most engaging and informative sessions we've hosted. His decades of DEA experience bring incredible credibility, but it's his ability to connect with the audience through real-world stories and practical advice that truly stands out. Our attendees left better informed, more aware, and with actionable strategies they could use immediately. We highly recommend Richard for any organization looking for a dynamic and impactful speaker.”
